Decades after ban, Devadasi system lives on surreptitiously in homes

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

IN the boondocks of Karnataka, there are reportedly around 80,000 women, almost all Dalits, who were "forcefully dedicated" to a life of prostitution before a temple deity at the raw age of 12-13 years in the presence of their mothers, most of who are former Devadasis, and other senior Devadasis. The state banned the social evil tradition under the Karnataka Devadasis (Prohibition of Dedication) Act, 1982, which was enforced in 1984.

"The ban only pushed dedication out of the temple premises to homes of these highly vulnerable girls from Dalit families, where dedications still happen, albeit clandestinely once a year on Bharatha Hunimme in February," said T Ramanjaneya, Project Director, Sneha, a voluntary organisation working for advocacy and empowerment of former Devadasis and their children in Koppala and Ballari in North Karnataka.

Daughters of former Devadasis undergo skill training from Children of India Foundation | CHILDREN OF INDIA FOUNDATION

During a visit to Hosapete in Ballari district early this week, this reporter met some former Devadasis, their children and people. Many people who TNIE spoke to, said on condition of anonymity that the dedications still happen, but at homes and under cover. "There was some information last year regarding dedication of two girls in the taluk. They disappeared after the information was leaked," said a local who is privy to the information.

"Many a times, the families of these girls are complicit. They hide the girls. Some of them surface once they get pregnant," added another source. NGOs like Sneha, in partnership with 'Children Getting out of Devadasi System' (GOOD), and supported by Terre des Hommes, the Netherlands, in India are "working to stop further dedication, and help in empowering women along with other groups," said Vasudev Sharma of Child Rights Trust. Counterpunch to Winter Olympics snub by China

Envoy won't attend opening, closing events

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

PIQUED by China's poke to make a Galwan officer the torchbearer of the Winter Olympics that begins on Friday, India hit back by deciding that its Ambassador will not attend the opening and closing ceremonies of the event in Beijing.

"It is regrettable that China has tried to politicise the Galwan issue by appointing a PLA regiment commander Qi Fabao as the torchbearer of the Winter Olympics," foreign office spokesperson Arindam Bagchi said.

Shortly thereafter, Shashi Shekhar Vempati, Prasar Bharati CEO, tweeted, "Consequent to the announcement by @meaindia, @ddsportschannel will not telecast live the Opening and Closing ceremonies of the Winter Olympics being held in Beijing."

The shadow boxing came around the time an investigative report by The Klaxon, an Australian media house, called out China for gross under-reporting of its toll during the Galwan clash with Indian soldiers on the Ladakh border on June 15-16, 2020. While China claimed only four of its soldiers were killed, Klaxon said the real figure could be as much as 38.

Shameful: US Senator

"It is shameful that Beijing chose a torchbearer for the Winter Olympics 2022 who is part of a military command that attacked India in 2020," said US Senator Jim Risch, a Republican

The report was based on research by a group of unnamed social media researchers, including Chinese bloggers, and media reports that have since been purged by China. The clash, it said, began over a temporary bridge India built to counter Chinese infrastructure construction on the buffer area along the Line of Actual Control. As many as 20 Indian soldiers died in Galwan. As for Qi Fabao, he suffered head injuries.

India has already named Pradeep Kumar Rawat as it next envoy to China. Till he takes charge, Vikram Misri will continue to be the envoy in Beijing. The UK, US, Australia and Canada have already announced a diplomatic boycott of the event.

India's lone participant at the event is Arif Khan, a skier from Kashmir. His manager, Abbas Wani, tested positive for Covid upon landing in Beijing but was asymptomic. A repeat test cleared him of Covid.

PRIVATISATION POLICY SHIFT FROM FUNDS TO GROWTH: FINANCE SECY

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

THE government's approach towards privatisation has changed. The approach now is to do privatisations which are economically important, and result in increased productivity, employment and growth. "Our approach is to use disinvestment as a policy instrument to increase productivity, employment and growth not as means of filling the revenue gaps," Union finance secretary T V Somanathan told this newspaper.

He was responding to a question on why the disinvestment target for FY23 was drastically cut.

For the next financial year, the government has set a target of ₹65,000 crore.

The target was ₹1.75 lakh crore in the last Budget but it was later revised to ₹78,000 crore after the BPCL privatisation failed to get completed during the year.

"We have chosen to be realistic in what can really be realised. If we force them (DIPAM officials), they will say let's sell 5% here and 10% there to achieve the target of ₹1.75 lakh crore. We are not desperate for the last paisa. We want them to do the difficult tasks like disinvestment of Air India," Somanathan added.

Somanathan explained that Air India has not brought the government much money, but its economic impact is huge — it saved the government ₹20 crore a day opportunity cost and helped revive the airline industry.

'Crypto will never be a legal tender'

Cryptocurrencies will never be a legal tender, said Union Finance Secretary T V Somanathan, clearing the air on the legality of private digital currencies. He said cryptos are like diamond and gold, which are valuable but not a legal tender. Only RBI's digital rupee will be a legal tender

Hijab row now erupts in Kundapur govt college

VINCENT D'SOUZA & PRAKASH SAMAGA
@ Mangaluru, Udupi

THE controversy over college students wearing headscarves in classrooms seems to be escalating rather than seeing a resolution, with another government PU college in Udupi district denying entry to a group of girl students on Thursday. This comes even as some students of a government PU College in Udupi city are fighting for their 'constitutional right' after they were denied entry into classrooms with headscarves. One of them have also moved the High Court over the issue.

On Thursday, a video went viral, which showed Ramakrishna, principal of the Government PU College at Kundapur, closing the gates on 28 hijab-clad students as they tried to enter the campus. The girls have been attending classes with headscarves for long.

Shots fired at Owaisi's car in UP, one arrested

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

TWO persons were arrested in connection with the attack on Hyderabad MP and leader of the All India Majlis-e-Ittehadul Muslimeen (AIMIM) Asaduddin Owaisi on Thursday. The miscreants fired at the AIMIM chief's vehicle near Chhajarsi toll plaza at Pilkhua on the Meerut-Delhi Expressway in poll-bound Uttar Pradesh on Thursday.

Owaisi, who was returning to Delhi after addressing a poll meeting in Kithaur in Meerut, was not hurt in the incident. He tweeted photos of his car with bullet marks and claimed 3-4 persons fired four rounds. He said his convoy came under fire when the vehicles slowed near the toll plaza. "My car got punctured, but I got out in another car and left. We are all safe," he tweeted.

However, police believe there were only two attackers.

"On the basis of CCTV footages, one of the attackers was identified as Sachin Kumar. The second, Shubham, was also arrested soon after. Both are in their early 20s," said ADG (law and order) Prashant Kumar. Both have been booked for attempt to murder and possessing illegal arms.

During initial interrogation, the accused said they took the step as as they were hurt by Owaisi's speech about Hindus, sources said.

Meanwhile, Owaisi demanded an inquiry into the incident by the Election Commission.

Student caught trying to sneak in girlfriend into hostel in luggage

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Udupi

A student of the Manipal Institute of Technology was caught by security guards while he was trying to sneak in his girlfriend into the hostel by stuffing her in a trolley bag.

Sources said that the student, residing in the men's hostel, has a girlfriend from a commerce institute who stays in the women's hostel located on the same campus. On Wednesday afternoon, when he was entering the men's hostel with the trolley bag, the security guards at the entrance got suspicious and asked him to open it up. He was initially reluctant, but gave in when the guards stood their ground. When he opened the bag, the girlfriend popped out of it.

Sources said the boy wanted to spend some time with the girl and convinced her about his plan to take her to his hostel room. The internal disciplinary committee of Manipal Academy of Higher Education (MAHE) has taken action against the boy and the girl for violating college rules.

State sore with startup ranking, asserts B'luru's No. 1 position

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE latest Economic Survey has declared New Delhi as the country's startup capital, taking into account the number of startups that were added between 2019 and 2021, but Karnataka asserts that Namma Bengaluru is numero uno when it comes to the start-up ecosystem and unicorns.

Dismayed over the Centre's report that only took into account the number of start-ups registered — 5,000 in the national capital compared to 4,514 in Bengaluru between April 2019 and December 2021 — the State Government and also experts feel that a number of other parameters that help to grow a city as a global startup hub need to be taken into consideration.

Some are also of the view that it is an unfair comparison, as the NCR region is much larger compared to Bengaluru city.

Bengaluru is home to the highest number of unicorns and is compared with cities like New York, Berlin and Tel Aviv. Of the 85 unicorns in India, 34 are based in Bengaluru and 25 of them emerged between April 2019 and December 2021, sources in the government said, backing up the argument that Bengaluru is indeed the startup capital.

IISc installs supercomputer 'Param Pravega'

Designed by the Centre for Development of Advanced Computing, it will be used to power R&D projects

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE powerful supercomputer developed by the Indian Institute of Science (IISc) earlier, now has a sibling. As part of the National Supercomputing Mission (NSM), the IISc has successfully commissioned and installed one of the most powerful supercomputers in India -- 'Param Pravega' -- which is also the largest supercomputer that has been installed at an Indian academic institution.

The NSM was launched in 2015, as a means to empower India's research and academic institutions by providing supercomputational capabilities, such as the latest Param Pravega. It is spearheaded jointly by the Department of Science and Technology (DST) and Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY). One of the aims of the mission is to increase India's total computational capacity to 16 petaflops. One petaflop equals around a quadrillion or 1,015 operations per second. Accordingly, Param Pravega contributes to that capacity, with its supercomputing power of 3.3 petaflops, increasing the cumulative power to 17 petaflops. The computer was designed by the Centre for Development of Advanced Computing (C-DAC), with a majority of the hardware and software manufactured within the country itself.

The supercomputer will be used for R&D projects at the institution. "These systems have greatly helped faculty members and students carry out major R&D activities, including developing platforms for genomics and drug discovery, studying urban environmental issues, establishing flood warning and prediction systems, and optimising telecom networks," said a statement from the institute.

Previously, the institute had set up, what at that time was considered, the fastest supercomputer in India, the 'SaharaT', which was used for various research activities, including for Covid-19.

"Researchers have also used the facility to simulate turbulent flows for green energy technologies, study climate change and associated impacts, analyse aircraft engines and hypersonic flight vehicles, and many other research activities. These efforts are expected to ramp up significantly with Param Pravega," the statement added.

Rework garbage collection user fee system, BBMP told

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

WITH the BBMP striving to impose user fee for garbage collection and management, amidst opposition from many political circles, the State Government has sent back the proposal seeking clarification.

The BBMP had made a proposal before the government that instead of collecting user fee from door-to-door, it should be collected along with water and electricity bills. The proposal was sent to the government for acceptance and announcement in the upcoming session. But before implementing it, the government has sought clarity and has accordingly sent back the proposal with some queries.

The list of questions include the amount to be collected, under which category, what is the target population from whom the fee is to be collected, and how the slabs will be fixed when the fee would be collected from other civic agencies, the taxation system, slabs for calculating the fee and details of the cost-sharing agreement with other agencies, the BBMP and the solid waste management company formed.

"Many questions have been asked and we are working on them. The replies will be sent to the government for approval and implementation. Collection of user fee is mentioned in the Solid Waste Management Rules, 2019. It has also been directed by the CAG," BBMP Joint Commissioner, SWM, Sarfaraz Khan said. However, many former corporators continue to voice out against imposition of user fee, maintaining that it will be an additional burden on citizens. Experts, however, are mixed in their opinions. While some state that garbage collection is a part of the municipality's duties, others opine that imposition of charges will make it a service and the government will be liable to act on the payments being made.

For first time, RR Nagar to host Avarekai Mela

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

FOR the first time, the popular 'Avarekai Mela' will be held in RR Nagar this year, away from its traditional venue of VV Puram. The mela, which celebrates the 'broad bean', will be held on the road near Balakrishna Ranagamandira Ground from February 4-6, to the delight of residents from the western city outskirts.

Usually, if one wanted to enjoy the Avarekai Mela, they would have to travel all the way to Basavanagudi or VV Puram. After being hosted in VV Puram on a smaller scale due to the pandemic, from January 24-30 this year, the mela is now going to be held in RR Nagar.

"We have organised similar melas earlier -- in HSR Layout and RT Nagar. However, due to the pandemic this year, the event was not held on a grand scale in VV Puram. Meanwhile, a small mela is going to be held at RR Nagar as well. MLA Munirathna has also extended his support," said K S Swathi, owner of Vasavi Condiments, which organises the Avarekai Mela.

NGOs promote self-advocacy in those with spl needs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN order to encourage self-advocacy amongst those with special needs, two special needs NGOs, Brindavan Education Trust and Mitra for Life, launched the 'Self-Advocacy Project'.

Professionals and students with special needs shared the difficulties they faced in their daily lives as well as tasks and errands they had to incorporate through hard work to become more self-reliant.

Though they had trouble with certain situations, they were capable of washing their clothes, shopping, using public transport and forming social bonds with others independently.

They talked about the importance of self-advocacy, which helped them to be more independent and individualistic, while also helping them communicate their needs to the people around them.

Seeking independence

"I prefer to explore everything on my own and make my own decisions. I already have emotional independence. I am working on my physical independence," said Tanvi Bharadwaj, who is currently pursuing a bachelor's degree in Psychology.

The idea of self-advocacy is to help those with special needs effectively get across their requirements and challenges while also maintaining their independence.

It also contributes to inclusivity when it comes to those with special needs to break the idea of co-dependence and other misinformation.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

04th February: The Moon is forming some fascinating patterns right now. According to all ancient lore, and some modern evidence, general energy levels drop at this time. The old astrological writers used to say that this is a bad moment for launching new enterprises. I'm not sure. I think that it's more important to consider what kind of project you're about to embark on.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You're approaching the end of a strenuous and stressful phase, but even though some semblance of certainty is returning, you're still not out of the woods. By next week partners will once again be ready to talk rationally, so save the facts and figures until then.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
By this evening, the Moon's position will be so much more friendly, bringing a final indication that you are moving out of the recent period of confusion and bad temper. Prospects for the weekend are therefore promising - just as long as you can sidestep a personal attack.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
By all means allow colleagues or close partners to air their feelings, but there is no reason why you should take responsibility for their grievances or complaints. You are not to blame, so don't imagine that you are. But what you can do is try to explain yourself better in the future.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Your famous maternal qualities may be in much demand now that the dust is settling and partners are licking their wounds. On the other hand, you have cares of your own to deal with. I have a feeling that people around you will instinctively look to you to take responsibility for them.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Pride is a strength if it is the source of your self-confidence, but humility is a virtue to be encouraged if it enables you to form a deeper bond with a particular person. At any rate, it's a time to sit down and talk, especially to people you live with.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
There may be much to be said for going over old ground, even if it does mean repeating yourself or letting yourself in for situations which may be frankly quite dull. Yet, as the old cliché says, a stitch in time saves nine. You still have some finely-judged financial decisions to make, so keep your concentration.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The past week or so must have been challenging and emotionally trying, yet now that the planets responsible for causing such strain are drifting apart, you may move quickly to restore goodwill. Actually, you're in a much better position than you might imagine.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
The Sun is shedding new light on aspects of your character you never dreamed existed. Little by little, fresh information is coming your way - and may cause you to alter some of your most cherished opinions. The result? You'll soon be changing some of your secret plans.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You are now entering a much more sociable phase and will soon be back to your normal self. Try to re-establish control over your spending, and get all your finances in proper order. You're in a tough position, but I am sure that you will be able to come out on top.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You must now feel that your status and prestige are soaring upwards, yet there may be a price to pay. For a start you must see to it that partners are kept happy and that you fulfil all your commitments. Stay one step ahead of the game and focus on domestic and family affairs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Seldom have you experienced a stranger period in relation to your dreams or deepest yearnings. This is one of those times when you will see the value of being in tune with your inner self, not the easiest of tasks in this busy world. A word about love affairs - your hopes may be too high. How about being more realistic?

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
It's a day to be businesslike about your social contacts and commitments, down-to-earth about your hopes and aspirations. But don't forget to be true to your recent dreams and revelations. If there's one thing you have to remember about being intuitive, it's that you're not always right!

Short hospital stay for most Covid patients

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

NEW data from the BBMP War Room report of February 1 shows there are more Covid-19 patients being admitted for shorter durations of time (0-7 days) in hospital, and fewer people being admitted for longer durations such as 8-14 days, 15-21 days and beyond 21 days.

For instance, 315 patients have been admitted for the past seven days, while 94 patients have been admitted for 8-14 days, 39 people for 15-21 days and seven people for more than 21 days.

"In this wave, the average duration of hospital stay is less. This could be a combination of factors, including the new Omicron variant and Covid-19 vaccination coverage. Patients with shorter duration of admission includes those across all age groups. Those on longer stay include people with comorbidities such as neurological issues, chronic kidney disease, and also those who are unvaccinated with comorbidities," said Thrilok Chandra, Special Commissioner (Health), BBMP.

In addition to the above data, age-wise breakup of active hospital admissions shows that a majority of patients across general, HDU, ICU and ICU ventilator beds are in the 60-plus age group. There are 43 such patients above 60 years in the general ward, 58 in HDU, six in ICU and 41 in ICU with ventilator. "Patients who stay for longer than seven days have other co-morbidities and are immunocompromised," a doctor from Bowring and Lady Curzon Hospital said.

One in 7 men, 6 women in K'taka at risk of cancer

Lung cancer most common in men, 50% patients diagnosed in the fourth stage; non-smoker diagnosis on the rise

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

ONE in seven men and one in six women are at the risk of developing cancer in Karnataka, a recent report by Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) has revealed. While breast cancer is the most common type of cancer in women of Karnataka, it is lung cancer in men. What is more worrying is that the numbers are only increasing, say doctors.

While early screening and detection continues to be the key, doctors claim that nearly 50 per cent of lung cancer patients come to them only at the fourth stage of the cancer.

"When we look at cancer incidence in Karnataka, lung cancer is the leading cause for men. It is imperative to be aware of the risk factors for lung cancers as close to 50 per cent of lung cancer is diagnosed xin stage 4 where it has already spread to other areas in the body," says Dr Nitin Yashas, Medical Oncologist, Manipal Hospitals.

While the data shows that 33 per cent of cancers in men and 14 per cent in women are tobacco related, Dr Nitin says, there is also a trend being noticed where more number of non-smokers are diagnosed with lung cancer and these cases may be attributable to the impact of environmental factors such as pollution, occupational exposure to carcinogens, diet, etc.

WARNING SIGNS

- Change in bowel or bladder habits
- A sore that doesn't heal
- Unusual bleeding or discharge from any opening in the body
- Unexplained weight loss or loss of appetite

In Karnataka, according to Dr Ramakrishna C, Director, Kidwai Cancer Research Centre, it is estimated that 87,000 new cancer cases are seen in recent years at any point of time and about 2.3 lakh cases are observed in the state. "In Bengaluru, lung, stomach, prostate and esophagus are predominant cancers in men. In women it is breast, cervix, ovarian, corpus uteri," he explains.

As pointed out by the theme of this year's World Cancer Day --- 'Close the care gap'-- emphasising on improving access to quality cancer care for everyone, Dr Vishal Rao, Regional Director, Head and Neck Surgical Oncology and Robotic surgery, HCG Cancer Hospital, says, "Over the years, cancer treatment has been inadvertently impacted by a lot of care gaps attributable to various reasons. These impediments are rooted in various deficiencies like lack of early diagnosis, misdiagnosis, delayed diagnosis, or even poor accessibility to care."

Breast cancer cases rising, reaching rural areas

RANJANI MADHAVAN @ Bengaluru

AMONG 29 different types of cancer, the highest incidence found was of breast cancer, as per data shared by Sri Shankara Cancer Foundation (SSCF) in Bengaluru, for the years 2019, 2020 and 2021. Data sourced by TNIE, in light of World Cancer Day on February 4, shows that of 23,328 cancer patients, including adults and children who sought treatment in these three years here, 3,810 patients suffered from breast cancer.

"Incidence of breast cancer is increasing in India. Earlier, we thought it was purely an urban problem but now it is present in rural areas too. Women as young as 20 to 22 years are also presenting with the disease. One of the many causes could be genetic configuration," said Dr BS Srinath, head of SSCF, a not-for-profit that provides cancer treatment, particularly for the poor.

The age breakup showed more cases among adults (22,780) than in children (548) and gender-wise breakup showed more cases among males (12,576) than females (10,752).

Lymphoma Cancer	257	212	172	641
Prostate Cancer	272	166	192	630

(*AT SRI SHANKARA CANCER FOUNDATION)

Dr BS Srinath said various causes of rising cancer cases in the country overall could be attributed to tobacco, alcohol, red meat, pollution, pesticide-based foods, poor personal hygiene, having too many children, risk of HPV (human papilloma virus) infection if one has too many sexual partners, including someone with HPV, etc. The last two factors are linked to cervical cancer.

The Foundation, which runs Sri Shankara Cancer Hospital and Research Centre(SSCHRC), also reported 1,305 deaths by cancer across three years.

"Most number of deaths by cancer have been observed in those with lung cancer. There is an alarmingly high growth in cancers the world over. There were nearly 1.4 million new cancer cases in India in 2020. Though the incidence of cancer recorded in developed countries is higher than developing countries such as India, the mortality rate due to cancer is significantly higher in India," he added.

The Foundation has seen that cancer occurs at a much younger age in India, compared to other developed countries.

According to them, this is primarily because of lack of awareness, due to which patients consult doctors at a late stage, besides a lack of comprehensive cancer screening programmes in the country.

NO ONE SHOULD COME TO SCHOOL TO PRACTICE RELIGION: JNANENDRA

Says students should neither wear hijab nor saffron shawls in edu institutions; asks cops to keep eye on those disturbing peace

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru, Mangaluru

Home Minister Araga Jnanendra arrives at Vikasa Soudha in Bengaluru on Thursday

KARNATAKA Home Minister Araga Jnanendra on Thursday said students should neither wear hijab (headscarf) nor saffron shawls to schools and colleges, and stressed that they should wear only the prescribed uniform. His remarks come amid a row over some students of a government PU college in Udupi wearing the hijab in classrooms. In another incident, girl students of a government PU college in Kundapur, who reached the institution wearing the hijab on Thursday, were stopped at the gate.

Addressing the media here, Jnanendra said educational institutions should overcome the barriers of religion and caste and promote the feeling that all are one. Religious practices should be followed in places of worship like temples, churches and mosques. In educational institutions, students should have the feeling of oneness and there should be an academic atmosphere for students to develop a culture of national unity and integrity, he stressed.

"No one should come to school for practicing their religion," he said, while responding to a question on students wearing saffron shawls as a counter to a few students wearing the hijab. He said he has directed the police to keep an eye on fundamental organisations and to take stern action against those who disturb unity.

Mehbooba, Tharoor slam government

The issue has caught national attention with former Jammu and Kashmir Chief Minister and PDP chief Mehbooba Mufti and Congress MP Shashi Tharoor slamming the authorities. Mehbooba, who also sports a hijab, said, "Beti bachao-beti padhao is yet another hollow slogan. Muslims are being denied the right to education simply because of their attire. Legitimising the marginalisation of Muslims is one more step towards converting Gandhi's India into Godse's India."

Tharoor tweeted, "It's been a strength of India that everyone is free to wear what they want. If the hijab is disallowed, what about the Sikh turban? The Hindu's forehead mark? The Christian's crucifix? This college is going down a slippery slope. Let the girls in. Let them study. Let them decide."

Mandate uniforms for all students: Jagaran

DAVANAGERE: Members of the Hindu Jagaran Vedike (HJV) on Thursday staged a protest in front of the DC's office in Davanagere, urging the government to give directions on wearing of uniforms across all schools and colleges in the state. In a memorandum to the government submitted through DC Mahantesh Bilagi, the activists said the adamant attitude of some Muslim girls over wearing of hijab and attending classes cannot be tolerated, as it is a fundamentalist mindset. Educational institutions are centres where religion, caste and other factors are not given preference, and proper dress code and uniform will bring equality among students. "A section of society is stating that wearing of hijab is a right provided by the Constitution, this is wrong. The same Constitution states that all residents of India are equal, hence there shouldn't be dress difference between Hindus and Muslims," they said. ENS

Only four berths vacant, but a long list of aspirants

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

WITH the cabinet reshuffle buzz growing louder around Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai scheduled visit to New Delhi, names of aspirant are doing the rounds. Four berths are vacant, so new faces are likely to be inducted.

If everything goes well, the central leadership could agree to the induction of new ministers to strike a regional balance, as many districts are not represented in Bommai's cabinet.

A senior BJP leader, on condition of anonymity, said that the names of five-time MLA GH Thippareddy (Chitradurga), Poornima Srinivas (Hiriyur), Dattatreya Revoor (Gulbarga Dakshin), M Renukacharya (Honnali), Basanagouda Patil (Vijayapura) and N Mahesh (Kollegal) are 'on the list of probables'.

While Thippareddy is one of the senior most MLAs under consideration, Poornima, who almost made it last time, could get a look-in. If inducted, Revoor (Kalaburagi), Patil (Vijayapura), Renukacharya (Davanagere) and Mahesh (Chamarajanagar) will ensure representation for their districts. Mahesh had quit the BSP and joined BJP.

Meanwhile, MLC N Ravikumar and BJP state vice-president BY Vijayendra are also in contention, as both worked for victory of BJP candidates in the bypolls. Though there is a buzz that the party is likely to drop senior ministers KS Eshwarappa and JC Madhuswamy, some leaders are not in favour of such a move as they need senior members in the House to defend the government on many issues.

"If Poornima Srinivas is inducted, Shashikala Jolle is likely to be dropped," said the leader.

There are many ifs and buts as to when the cabinet reshuffle could happen: the State budget is scheduled in March first week, and by the second week of March, election results to five states will be announced. "We are hoping it'll be after March 10," sources said.

After Bommai announced he would be visiting Delhi on Monday, many aspirants are also planning to fly out and meet central leaders. Minister B Sriramulu is already in Delhi, CM's political secretary MP Renukacharya and former Union Minister Basangouda Patil Yatnal are also expected to follow suit.

Sriramulu in Delhi to discuss Reddy's rehab?

B Sriramulu

Janardhana Reddy

TRANSPORT Minister B Sriramulu's visit to New Delhi has fuelled speculation over his attempts to bring his mentor and former minister Gali Janardhana Reddy back into active politics, ahead of the 2023 assembly polls.

Ahead of leaving for the national capital, Sriramulu and Reddy reportedly took part in certain rituals on Tuesday, which was Amavasya (new moon day), on the banks of the Tungabhadra river in Hampi. This added fuel to rumours whether Reddy had sent Sriramulu as his envoy to party bosses in New Delhi. The minister held talks with Union Minister Pralhad Joshi, but it was not clear what transpired between the duo.

Though his New Delhi trip has been dubbed as one undertaken to lobby for the DyCM post that was reportedly assured to him in the run-up to the 2018 polls, the ST Nayaka leader from Ballari also has Reddy's career on his agenda, according to sources.

Sriramulu, who is Molakalmuru MLA from Chitradurga district, was appointed Ballari district in-charge minister. Teaming up with Reddy and the reunion of the two families politically will make for a formidable force which is essential for the BJP ahead of the 2023 assembly polls, sources in the party said.

However, party bosses are busy with elections in five states and are unlikely to pay attention to Sriramulu. They a likely to weigh the pros and cons about giving the green signal to Reddy, as he is on bail in cases involving illegal mining and lifting of iron ore, sources said.

HC to hear pleas on Feb 8

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court will on Tuesday hear pleas on barring of Muslim students from attending classes for wearing headscarf (hijab) in Udupi. Justice Krishna S Dixit said the matter will be heard on February 8, after Advocate-General Prabhuling K Navadagi sought time to respond to two separate petitions filed by the students and others before court, which were mentioned by the petitioners' counsel.

One petition is filed by Ayesha Hajeera Almas, Reshma, Aliya Assadi, Shafa and Muskaan Zainab, students of the Government PU College Girls at Udupi. Another is filed by Resham, a student, and one Mubarak.

The first petition stated that the petitioners, who regularly wear headscarves over college uniform, were insisted upon by the principal, vice-principal and a lecturer to remove them, although they had pointed out that wearing it is part of their religious and social culture and doesn't come in the way of discipline and education. The petitioners also alleged that some of the lecturers scolded and threatened to mark them absent, and also that they would not be awarded internal marks.

Unable to attend regular physical classes since January 1, they alleged that they were losing out on valuable academic time, and sought directions to conduct an inquiry against the lecturers and others.

Contending that the right of a woman to choose her dress is a fundamental right protected under Article 25(1), when such prescription of dress is an essential part of her religion, the petitioners in the second plea prayed before court, seeking direction to declare the petitioners' right to wear hijab a fundamental right and an essential practice of Islam.

'Different govt colleges cannot have different rules'

JUST a day earlier, more than 100 Hindu boys had turned up with saffron shawls to register their protest against Muslim girls wearing the hijab. Following this, local Bharatiya Janata Party MLA Halady Srinivas Shetty, who is also the college development committee president, convened a meeting and strictly told the college principal to stick to the college uniform.

While the girls strongly registered their protest, telling the principal that his 'act to deny them education' is wrong and will jeopadise their future as the exams are just two months away, the principal maintained that he was only implementing the MLA's directives.

Meanwhile, the issue has taken a political turn and with different political parties indulging in mud-slinging over the matter.

The hijab controversy is nothing new to the region where a majority of Muslim women prefer to cover their heads while stepping out of home. A few years ago, the century-old St Agnes College in Mangaluru, a women's college, had faced protests over a hijab ban, but the issue was amicably resolved. But this time, the controversy got thicker as ruling party MLAs got actively involved in it.

Udupi district in-charge minister S Angara told reporters on Thursday that a high-powered committee, formed to look into the issue, is expected to submit its report soon. Different government colleges cannot have different rules, he stressed.

In the light of the developments, there is a fear that many poor Muslim families may not send their daughters to government colleges.

Reacting to the issue, Congress leader and former minister U T Khader noted that since his daughter refused to give up the hijab, he had to send her to a Muslim-run private college, highlighting the predicament of the community.

HDK hints at using regional issues as poll plank

BENGALURU : Ahead of the 2023 Assembly elections in Karnataka, former CM and JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy has decided to take up regional issues that appeal to people of the state, including the river-linking project mentioned in the recent Union Budget, to improve the party's prospects in the polls. "He has been studying the river-linking projects mentioned in the budget to be implemented in neighbouring Tamil Nadu and Andhra Pradesh with irrigation experts to know the impact of the projects on Karnataka. He is likely to take a call on whether to make the river-linking issue party's poll plank ahead of the 2023 Assembly elections," a party functionary told TNIE. After a preliminary meeting with Kannada activists at his farmhouse in Bidadi, Kumaraswamy clarified that he will be convening a meeting next week to discuss issues of the state concerning its 'land, water and language'. "Karnataka has been facing step-motherly treatment from successive Central governments. National parties have meted out injustice to the state in all sectors, especially irrigation. I will unite all farmers under a one roof to achieve justice through struggle," he elaborated. He also hinted through his tweets about raising the issue of loss of jobs for Kannadigas in private and government sectors. ENS

There is also a need to look at the emerging areas like artificial intelligence (AI), space technology, FinTech, EduTech and others in which Bengaluru has a leadership position compared to others, he told The New Indian Express.

The Karnataka government has launched the start-up policy in 2015 and Bengaluru has received global recognition as the start-up hub. THE Karnataka High Court on Thursday permitted the Special Investigation Team (SIT) to submit the final report before the magistrate court in relation to the crime registered by the Cubbon Park police based on the rape complaint filed by the victim of the sex CD scandal allegedly involving former BJP minister Ramesh Jarkiholi.

"The question of constitution of SIT under the impugned orders and the validity of the agency is to be considered by this court. Two silk growers hit the jackpot with record price

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @Bengaluru

HIT by the Covid pandemic, the sericulture industry saw a silver lining with two silk rearers netting a record high of Rs 1,043 and Rs 1,042 for a kilogram of bivoltine cocoons at the Ramanagara cocoon market on Wednesday.

While farmer Ramesh of Siddaiahnadoddi in Kanakapura taluk pocketed Rs 98,569 for 95 kg of cocoon at Rs 1,043 a kg, Gangadharappa of Kondlahalli village in Molakalmuru taluk of Chitradurga district got Rs 1.63 lakh against 158 kg of cocoon, which Mohamed Zabi Ahmed grabbed at the bid. The average price for a kg of cocoon elsewhere across the state is Rs 870.

The high price is good news for Karnataka which produces 79,800 metric tonnes annually, cornering 48 per cent of the country's silk production and providing livelihood to over 1.3 lakh mulberry farmers on 1.10 lakh hectares. The price which was stable at an average of 720 per kg for three months witnessed a surge into four digits, setting a historical record.

In 2020-21, the price was at Rs 300 per kg when the government had to intervene as it fell below the Rs 350 mark, with Rs 50 as incentive. The price picked up in November and December recording Rs 700 to Rs 800 per kg.

The stainability of the price for three months is attributed to the reduction of the raw silk import from China owing to the pandemic and also farmers producing better quality cocoons by adopting good practices in silk worm rearing. Besides, the automatic reeling machines helped in the production of international grade raw silk on par with the China's, said Nagabushan, additional director of sericulture.

RESURVEY OF DEVADASIS MAY HAPPEN NEXT YEAR

THE last government survey was done in 2008-2009 by the Karnataka State Women's Development Corporation (KSWDC) as per which there were 46,600 Devadasis in Karnataka. Another research conducted by Akkamahadevi Women's University in Vijayapura and 'Sneha' in 2017 had found that the number of Devadasis could be double the estimated figures and had asked the government for a re-survey, which "may be conducted in the coming year," said official sources.

Caught in the vicious and never-ending cycle of poverty, social backwardness, illiteracy and the obligation to fend for their families, Devadasis, from a young age of post puberty, spend their lives in forced servitude and fear that they would invite the wrath and curse of gods should they defy the dedication. These women bear children through forced illicit relationships with men who stay with them, but don't marry them. They live off these women and abandon them at their whim. In most cases, they go back to their legally wedded wives.

Presently, 30,200 former Devadasis over the age of 45 are covered under the government pension scheme. They get Rs 1,500 per month through direct benefit transfer (DBT).

WELCOME DEPARTURE FROM DISRUPTION IN PARLIAMENT

Our Parliament may have a rich symbolic value, but ultimately it is also supposed to function. The first kind of abstract value derives from the second, the more nuts and bolts part of it—the two Houses actually submitting everything that comes before them to debate and collective interrogation, whether it be the presidential address, the annual budgets, various bills and amendments, or ordinary people's concerns. Boycotts, walkouts, sloganeering in the well of the House ... these achieve only a show of oppositionality. Beyond a point, it has no content. We must value meaningful speech over empty decibels.

It is not for nothing that tarka, or argumentation, has been accorded a philosophical centrality in this land since time immemorial. Our democracy anchors itself in that tradition. The debates of the Constituent Assembly, for instance, continue to be a rich source material (and much revered) for that very reason. Neither manufactured consent nor descent into cacophony is particularly democratic. If anything, it's a tragic marker of a larger cultural deterioration, reflected in the quality of engagement inside Parliament. Over the years, any number of figures in the Opposition or the treasury benches made their mark by the sheer content of their speeches—more than their rhetorical finesse. Even if, more often than not, it was always a case of 'the Opposition has its say, while the government has its way', till disruptions and the passing of momentous bills in five minutes became the norm rather than the exception.

It was, therefore, a welcome departure from the trend that Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman was allowed to present Budget 2022–23 in relative peace, and Opposition member Rahul Gandhi managed to deliver his rather fiery speech mostly uninterrupted too. Will the Budget deliver anything substantive? Did Rahul's words force the regime's hand on the 'diplomatic boycott' of China's Winter Olympics? Views can, and naturally will, differ. But that we got speech rather than cacophony itself is a matter of relief!

LET START-UPS THRIVE IN SMALLER TOWNS

Start-ups in India continue to proliferate in megacities. The flexibility to operate from remote locations and away from cities being the fulcrum for start-ups, it is strange to note that small towns still get nudged away by their big brothers. As per the recently unveiled Economic Survey of 2021–22, Delhi has overtaken Bengaluru to become the start-up capital of India. The Survey tells us that start-ups in the country have grown remarkably over the last six years, thanks to policy support by the government. With over 14,000 being recognised in 2021–22, their total number in the country has gone up to 61,400, as of January 10, making India the third largest start-up ecosystem in the world after the US and China.

What is more exciting is the fact that a record 44 start-ups have achieved unicorn status in 2021, taking the overall tally to 83. India overtook the UK to emerge as the third-highest country in number of unicorns after the US and China. As of January 14, India's 83 unicorns have reported a total valuation of $278 billion. That is indeed unparalleled growth. As per a recent Nasscom-Zinnov report, India will have 200 unicorns by 2025, and the ecosystem will account for 37,000 tech start-ups. The emergence of the ecosystem has been imperative in providing direct and indirect job opportunities, accounting for 6.6 lakh direct jobs and more than 34 lakh indirect jobs. Among sectors, financial services and banking, edu-tech and supply chain management have been at the forefront of creating most of the employment opportunities.

The need of the hour is to encourage a pan-India growth of the ecosystem. The government had started a system of rankings to encourage states to provide a conducive environment. Last year, Gujarat took the best performer ranking, while Karnataka and Kerala got the top performers' titles. During the pandemic, there is a certain accumulation of new start-ups in megacities. The policies should aim at letting start-ups bloom in smaller towns so that they can provide huge employment opportunities across the country.

None of the river-linking plans between states have made quick progress. Now the Modi government has pursued them again but with a diffident 'consensus' clause

CENTRE, STATES AND THE CHIMERA OF CONSENSUS

SOUMYADIP SINHA

SUGATA SRINIVASARAJU
Senior journalist and author

In the Budget presented on February 1, there was a mention of river-linking. But this did not find too much focus in the post-Budget analysis. The finance minister said that the implementation of the Ken-Betwa Link Project, at an estimated cost of ₹44,605 crore, will be taken up. It is not this line that should have upped our antenna but one that followed. The minister added that detailed project reports (DPRs) of five river-linking projects were ready, namely Damanganga-Pinjal, Par-Tapi-Narmada, Godavari-Krishna, Krishna-Pennar and Pennar-Cauvery, and that the Central government would provide support for implementation "once a consensus is reached among the beneficiary states".

It appeared that the word 'consensus' in paragraph 37 of the Budget had been used a little too casually, and gave an impression that the Centre was non-committal in its own duty of patiently constructing a consensus. There is of course a constitutionally obligatory role that the Centre is mandated with, and there is also a moral obligation to ensure that the states never lose sight of the idea of a nation, however amorphous and diverse a union it may be. The Centre is obligated to ensure that the emotional surcharge of sub-nationalism is moderated and balanced by a common pursuit that we often call 'national interest'. Its role is to keep in mind the big picture and that means actively engaging in building a consensus with and between states.

There may be a reason for the Centre to throw in a casual 'consensus' line and not appear mission-driven by the idea (which it usually is with anything it wants to own up or appropriate). The history of river-linking and river water disputes in India has been a complicated one. The river-linking idea itself is a very old one and can be traced back to the arguments of Kanuri Lakshmana Rao, more popularly known as K L Rao, an engineer who served as an irrigation and power minister in the Cabinets of Jawaharlal Nehru, Lal Bahadur Shastri and Indira Gandhi.

Rao had played a stellar role in the construction of what Nehru called the 'temples of modern India'—large dams. The Bhakra Nangal, Nagarjuna Sagar and many others in the early decades of Independence took shape under his watch. It was he who first spoke of a 'National Water Grid' and river-linking with the enthusiasm of an engineer. His brilliant book, 'India's Water Wealth', has served as a valuable reference to generations of politicians and river basin planners.

River-linking to resolve the unequal distribution of water resources across India in Rao's scheme had two components—the Himalayan and the Peninsular. At present, there are around 14 schemes under consideration under the Himalayan component and four under the Peninsular one. Besides, there are many intra-state river-linking ideas. None of these plans between and within states have progressed with the pace that they were imagined. Their eureka moments have long passed. Rao's ideas that were pushed in the 60s and the 70s were abandoned for a while. The Vajpayee government owned them up again, and it was quickly shelved by the Manmohan Singh regime over legitimate ecological concerns. Now the Modi regime, with its passion for all things technological, has pursued it again but with a diffident 'consensus' clause.

Not just the Modi government, all previous regimes too were wary of getting between states when it came to water and territorial disputes. Politics is one part of the story but the real side is that resolutions are never ever in sight because they are inextricably linked to sub-national identities. Sacrifice and compromise on either side would mean being permanently emptied of electoral goodwill. This explains why we are not a 'nation' in a way that it is aggressively marketed, a shimmering mountain of oneness shaped by sacrifice, but a union of states with deep water, territorial and cultural self-interests.

> The Centre is obligated to ensure that the emotional surcharge of sub-nationalism is moderated and balanced by a common pursuit that we often call 'national interest'. Its role is to keep in mind the big picture and that means actively engaging in building a consensus

Water is on the 'State' list of the Constitution, which means the states are free to conceive their river plans, but water disputes come under the purview of the Centre. Paradoxically, most rivers flow across states and hence the Centre is never out of the picture. The marvel of our Constitution pushes the Centre and the states to constantly engage with each other and develop a consensus, and very clearly the onus of building that consensus is on the Centre.

The Modi government introduced an amendment to the Inter-State River Water Disputes Act of 1956 in July 2019. Earlier, state governments could request the Centre to refer a water dispute to a tribunal for adjudication. The amendment added an intervening mechanism. First, on receiving a request, the Centre would refer it to a Disputes Resolution Committee (DRC) made up of judges and bureaucrats, and give it a year's timeline to reach an amicable settlement. If the DRC could not resolve the issue, the Centre within three months would refer it to the Inter-State River Water Disputes Tribunal.

Earlier under the 1956 Act, the decision of the Tribunal had to be published by the Central government in the official gazette. The amendment has removed the requirement for such a publication. It says the decision of the Tribunal will be final. Here, it is possible to read that the Centre is quietly removing itself from the scene of political landmines. The decision of the tribunal will never always be to the satisfaction of all parties involved in the dispute. Having to publish that would be seen as a political act and trigger emotional outbursts. Therefore, the Centre must have thought that a binding judicial decision was safer than consensus building.

There are at least three instances in recent decades when prime ministers were caught in a piquant situation presiding over inter-state water disputes. In December 1995, when P V Narasimha Rao tried to adjudicate the release of 11 tmcft Cauvery water from Karnataka to Tamil Nadu, J Jayalalithaa walked out of the meeting after she thought his decision favoured Karnataka. H D Deve Gowda was then chief minister of Karnataka.

Later, when Gowda became prime minister, he got into a problem with Andhra Pradesh CM Chandrababu Naidu over the Krishna waters and the height of the Almatti dam. Again, when PM Gowda tried to negotiate the height of the Narmada dam, the then Madhya Pradesh chief minister, Digvijaya Singh, walked out of a meeting in which four CMs were present. There have been many such situations when prime ministers have been put on the spot due to disagreements over water. All parties involved in such disputes know that consensus is a chimera.

DEMOCRATISING HONOURS & OVERCOMING COLONIAL SHADOW

VINAY SAHASRABUDDHE
President, ICCR, and BJP Rajya Sabha MP

It was really heartening to listen to Prime Minister Narendra Modi's 'Mann Ki Baat' last Sunday where he referred to India's rich music heritage. Days before, at the launch of the Pandit Jasraj Cultural Foundation, he suggested that in today's era of globalisation, Indian music should also make its global identity and create an impact internationally.

Sadly, endeavours to make Indian music globally popular have been misconstrued and also opposed by some people. A few days ago, a group of musicians and singers, at the initiative of the Indian Council for Cultural Relations (ICCR), had approached Union Civil Aviation Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia with a different kind of request. Their plea was to encourage airlines operating in our country and managers of airports here to play Indian music in aircrafts and also at the airports. Curiously, while the question of imposing any particular music simply didn't arise, this request came in for criticism in sections of mainly English media. This criticism of a democratically raised demand is indicative of a needless inferiority complex on the one hand and a strong colonial mindset on the other. What is wrong in demanding preference for Indian music in India? If not here, should this be demanded in Brazil or Tanzania? Sadly, even after 75 years of Independence, this colonial mindset refuses to go away. The divide-and-rule strategy of the British has made many of us habitually pro-fragmentation and we don't even realise the same.

Twin controversies manufactured by motivated sections of media in India and abroad provide a case in point: firstly, the merging of Amar Jawan Jyoti into the eternal flame now lit up at the National War Memorial; secondly, needless criticism from some quarters about the proposed statue of Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose under a canopy near India Gate.

Let's start with Amar Jawan Jyoti. Tragically, previous regimes deliberately discriminated in multiple ways simply to ensure that only a particular ideology or a family and persons close to them were decorated. This was absolutely against the very grain of democracy and yet nobody took exception. India had witnessed many prime ministers. But before 2014, except for Nehru Jayanti, recognised as Bal Diwas, Indira Gandhi Jayanti recognised as National Integration Day, and Rajiv Gandhi Jayanti as Sadbhavana Divas, anniversaries of other prime ministers were ignored.

Rejecting this pattern of recognising only select chapters of our glorious history, PM Modi created a National War Memorial and recognised all martyrs—and not just a select few—who made the supreme sacrifice while protecting the motherland. It was but natural that the Eternal Flame is lit and continues forever unextinguished at this place as a mark of respect and gratitude. Obviously then, the government decided to merge the flame at India Gate with that of the National War Memorial. One can't forget that India Gate was created to honour the memory of 90,000 British India troops lost in various operations, notably the First World War, between 1914 and 1921. The memorial bears the names of 13,000 people, including a few commanders and troops from the United Kingdom. The India Gate's foundation stone was placed in 1921, and it was dedicated in 1931. As a result, this monument could never become a National War Memorial dedicated to all troops who died before or after India's Independence. For record's sake, India lost almost 87,000 men in the Second World War as members of the British Army. The Amar Jawan Jyoti with the Eternal Flame was built in 1972 under the arch of the India Gate monument to honour fallen Indian soldiers, sailors, and airmen from the 1971 war, despite the fact that it has no names etched on it pertaining to the same. And what about the 1962 or 1965 wars? Are post-Independence wars inferior to those fought under British rule?

> Columnists from abroad with preconceived notions have tried to portray Netaji negatively. Yet many of our intellectuals did not come forward to join issue with them ... Even 75 years after Independence, the virus of inferiority is afflicting our confidence. The shadow of colonialism is so dark and deep, preventing us from telling the world that we won't dance to the tune of global giants

Let it be remembered that the BJP had pledged to establish a National War Memorial in the run-up to the 2014 elections. Later, the Memorial was finally dedicated to the country by the prime minister on 25 February 2019, after decades of protest from veterans and military historians. Since then, all commemorative and ceremonial events honouring India's fallen military men have been held at the National War Memorial, which has names of every single Indian soldier, sailor and airman who made the supreme sacrifice in the line of duty inscribed on it. Sadly, forces of status-quo-ism with prejudiced minds failed to understand the importance of democratisation of national honours and recognition.

About the Netaji statue decision, columnists from abroad, with a perverse mindset and preconceived notions, have tried to paint Subhas Chandra Bose as someone who had sought support from the enemies of the British in World War 2. Many of those raking up Netaji's German connection ironically are seen as supportive of several dictatorial governments including that of Pakistan. Regardless of the fact that Netaji's family members had to remain under surveillance even during the Nehru regime, today neither the so-called liberals nor Congressmen can dare oppose the idea of installing Bose's statue at India Gate. Sadly, no one from the opposition or like-minded sections of intellectuals graciously and wholeheartedly welcomed the decision on the Netaji statue.

Unfortunately, the shadow of colonialism is so dark and deep that the spirit of democratisation as the basis of several decisions of the government is ignored, at times wantonly. As a result, most senior journalists did not come forward to join issue with an associate editor of Financial Times over his irrational objection to the Netaji statue. Even 75 years after Independence, the virus of inferiority is afflicting our confidence, preventing us from asserting and telling the world that we won't dance to the tune of global giants.

Protect our wetlands

'World Wetlands Day' is celebrated on February 2 every year. The day is remembered for the adoption of the Convention on Wetlands signed in 1971 in Ramsar, Iran. The theme for this year's World Wetlands Day is 'Wetlands Action for People and Nature'. According to reports, in the last three decades, India has lost nearly 30% of its wetlands due to pollution, illegal constructions and unsustainable urbanisation. The need of the hour, therefore, is to highlight the ecosystem services of wetlands in our country's development policies.

Budget & long-term goals

This is with reference to Budget 2022–23 – A huge turning point (Feb 3).The author has rightly pointed out the quality of the Budget. It was a departure from the usual trend of freebies and tax concessions before elections. The long-term goals have been ably highlighted and the priorities made visible to the public eye. It is the budget of a prudent economist, not of an opportunist politician.

Use funds properly

This is with reference to MGNREGA deserves better allocation (Feb 3). It is high time the governments properly verified the beneficiaries and also the works completed. In many places, even dead persons have been reported to be in the list of beneficiaries. There is no point in allocating more unless the existing funds are used properly.

Heed Rahul's warning

The government might not agree with what the former Congress chief might have to say on matters like India's strained relationship with its neighbours or about the widening disparity between the rich and the poor but by adopting an ostrich-like attitude on such issues, the Centre can hardly hide the fact that these are grim realities that are staring them in the face (Gulf widening between 'two Indias', warns Rahul, Feb 3). Millions lost their livelihood during Covid but billionaires added considerably to their wealth. The Taliban takeover of Afghanistan and the bonhomie between China and Pakistan all augur badly for our country .

MPs call Pegasus proposal rejection unethical

Kareem of CPM writes to RS Chairman Naidu, saying it is responsibility of the House to maintain transparency

Congress MP Mallikarjun Kharge (left) and Union Law Minister Kiren Rijiju speak in Rajya Sabha on Thursday | PTI

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

AFTER none of the amendments to the President's address on Pegasus were admitted in Rajya Sabha, MPs flagged the matter to Chairman of the House Venkaiah Naidu. They asked why was it turned down, when a similar notice was admitted in Lok Sabha.

CPI (M) MP Elamaram Kareem and Congress MP KC Venugopal had submitted amendments on Pegasus, but they were not admitted by the Rajya Sabha secretariat. A total of 10 amendments on Covid-19 deaths, Pegasus and other issues were not admitted.

Kareem has written to Naidu requesting for ruling regarding the grounds on which the amendments proposed by a member can be admitted or disallowed. "I would like to express my objection over the way some of the amendments proposed by me under Rule 16 have been disallowed. The disallowed amendments are that mentioning the Pegasus issue and the failure of the Union government in effectively dealing with the pandemic. Many other members have reported that amendments by them on these subjects were disallowed," he said.

Calling the action 'completely' undemocratic and unethical, he said: "The action could create an impression among the public that the Rajya Sabha secretariat deliberately excluded the amendments which dealt with incidents that could expose the Union government.

"It is a violation of the rights of the members. Nowhere in the list of admitted amendments can we find the word Pegasus or a sentence regarding the state-sponsored illegal surveillance over the people. Points that could expose the government's failure in the management of pandemic are also excluded," he said.

Kareem said similar amendments were admitted in Lok Sabha. "So, the Upper House cannot escape from its responsibility to maintain transparency in revealing the reason for this exclusion," he added.

Fearful of future, Centre mistrusts present: Moitra

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

TRINAMOOL Congress MP Mahua Moitra on Wednesday said the BJP's campaign of 80% versus 20% will destroy 100% of India.

Speaking on the Motion of Thanks on President's address to the joint sitting of Parliament, Moitra lashed out at the government saying "They want to alter history, they are fearful of the future and they mistrust the present. You fear a future India which is comfortable in its own skin, which is comfortable with conflicting realities... You are not content with just the vote, you want to get inside our heads, inside our homes, to tell us what to eat, what to wear, who to love. But your fear alone cannot keep the future at bay."

She asked people to think. "What is the kind of Republic do we want, what is the India we want today, what is the idea of India we want to stand up for, fight for, get jailed for? Ours is a living Constitution. It breathes as long as we like to breathe life into it. Else, it is just a piece of paper."

Moitra said this government is insecure and this reflected in the way it disallowed tableaux on Subramaniam Bharti, V R Pillai, Sri Narayan Guru and Subhash Chandra Bose. "The government was trying to reinvent (VD) Savarkar as some kind of a freedom fighter, but is afraid of real heroes of our country."

She said India has been downgraded from free to partly free. It has become the most dangerous place for journalists. "The government mistrusts our annadatas... you withdrew the farm laws fearing defeat in elections in western Uttar Pradesh. But this time they will not forget how the son of your minister drove cars over farmers killing them."

Centre robbing poor and giving all to rich: Rahul

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi arrives in Raipur on Thursday | PTI

EJAZ KAISER @Raipur

CONGRESS leader Rahul Gandhi lashed out at BJP for creating two Indias — one for the rich and another for the poor. He said the Centre was extracting money from the poor and giving it to a handful of rich.

He said there is also an ideological problem. "Nation is facing a dangerous situation, confronted with 2-3 major challenges owing to BJP and its ideology. One rich India of a few hundreds and another of crores of poor. The poor fear none. Over 40% of the people's wealth remains with just 100 rich people." He added BJP has made sure that 80% of India contributes to the wealth of the remaining 20%.

He said India is a bouquet of flowers, where imposing any particular ideology on others is unacceptable. "India doesn't belong to a particular ideology but a set of beliefs, from different states. BJP and RSS want thrust their ideology on all states. BJP has spread hatred across the country. Patriotism means strengthening and uniting the country," he said at a gathering at Science College ground in Raipur.

Rahul was accorded a warm welcome in tribal tradition. He launched a scheme of the Congress government — Rajiv Gandhi Grameen Bhumiheen Kisan Mazdoor Yojana for landless agricultural labourers and those surviving on traditional occupations and another programme — Rajiv Gandhi Yuva Mitan Club (Youth Friends' Club) to be formed in every village panchayat and municipal bodies.

'US does not endorse Pak, China remark'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE US State Department has said it does not agree with Rahul Gandhi's claim that Prime Minister Narendra Modi's foreign policy has strengthened Pakistan-China relationship.

"I certainly would not endorse those remarks," said Ned Price, US State Department's spokesperson.

Rahul said in Parliament on Wednesday that India's foreign policy bolstered China and Pakistan's ties. "Ask yourself why you are not able to get a guest on Republic Day. We are completely isolated. You have brought Pakistan and China together and this is the single biggest crime you could have committed against the people of India," Gandhi had said.

Price said it is up to the two countries concerned. "I will leave it to Pakistan and the PRC to speak about their relationship." The spokesperson said Pakistan was a strategic partner for the US, they had an important relationship with the government in Islamabad and it was a relationship they valued across a number of fronts.

Responding to Rahul's comment, Minister of External Affairs S Jaishankar had tweeted on Wednesday, "We could not get a guest on Republic Day as those who live in India know we were going in the midst of a corona wave."

Seeing trailers of future conflicts, says Army chief

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

SAYING that India is witnessing the 'trailers' of future conflicts, the heads of Indian Army and Navy added on Thursday that "the probability of a full-blown conflict can not be ruled out". The three chiefs of the services were speaking at an International Webinar organised by Indian Army, along with New Delhi-based Think Tank Centre for Land Warfare Studies (CLAWS). They spoke on the theme "Contours of Future Wars & Counter Measures".

General MM Naravane, Chief of the Army Staff said, "We are already witnessing trailers' of future conflicts. They are being enacted daily on the information battlefield, in the networks and cyber space. They are also being played along our yet unsettled and active borders." Without naming China or Pakistan, he said neighbouring nations with nuclear capabilities are to be wary of.

Our adversaries shall continue their efforts to achieve strategic aims, short of conflict, by use of Grey Zone activities, in political, military & economic domains, & do it in collusion

Gen MM Naravane

Talking about the situation, Admiral Hari Kumar, Chief of the Naval Staff said, "Given our security situation, the probability of a full-blown conflict can never be ruled out. Rather, we are involved in managing these conflicts even now on a day-to-day basis,"

General Naravane pointed out that whatever is happening should shape our tomorrow and for it we will have to transform technologically. "It is for us to visualise, the battlefield contours of tomorrow, based on these trailers. If you look around, you will realise that the sci-fi of yesterday, is the 'reality' of today. We too have to leapfrog to the future, to an entirely new configuration."

Air Chief Marshal VR Chaudhari said this competition is already getting manifested on the ground. "We are all aware that at the operational and tactical level, this competition is already manifesting in the form of greyzone warfare, hybrid warfare, salami slicing, etc," the Air Chief said.

Supreme Court turns down appeal to postpone GATE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Thursday refused to entertain a petition seeking postponement of the Graduate Aptitude Test in Engineering Exam (GATE) commencing from February 5.

The exams are scheduled to take place in off-line mode on February 5, 6, 12 and 13. A bench headed by Justice D Y Chandrachud said interfering in the examination process just 48 hours before it was due to commence could create chaos and uncertainty.

The petitioners had accused the authorities of not issuing Covid-appropriate guidelines for conducting the test stating that nine lakh students were appearing for GATE at hundreds of centres.

"The plea for postponement of GATE 2022 examination just 48 hours before scheduled date is replete with potential for chaos and uncertainty in lives of students. There is no overarching reason why this court should under Article 32 (of the Constitution) supplant the role of authorities," the top court said.

"We cannot start postponing exams like this. We cannot play with careers of students like this," the bench noted.

No Central funds for Rajasthan's border villages

SANA SHAKIL @New Delhi

WHILE villages along the country's northern border mainly adjoining China were promised a major connectivity push with the announcement of a new scheme in the Union Budget, areas along the India-Pakistan border in Rajasthan have not seen much development in the past two years.

Rajasthan was not provided any financial assistance from the Centre for development of border areas in the last and current financial year. Union Minister of State for Home Affairs, Nityanand Rai shared this information in Parliament on Wednesday, stating that Rajasthan could not be issued financial assistance due to non-utilisation of funds by the state.

Rai was responding to a question from KC Venugopal of Congress, who asked whether government intends to approve Rajasthan's annual action plan for 2020-21 and 2021-22 under Border Area Development Programme (BADP). Rai informed Rajya Sabha that the last Annual Action Plan submitted by Rajasthan is for 2021-2022 and that over the last few years, the unspent amount in Rajasthan remains ₹51.28 crore.

BADP covers 111 districts in 17 states to meet special development needs of border population, with focus on people living within 50 kilometers of the International Border. In Rajasthan, the programme is being implemented in 16 blocks of four districts — Barmer, Bikaner, Ganganagar and Jaisalmer.

UNION BUDGET 2022-23

SMALL & MARGINAL FARMERS NEED CARE

WHEN wide-ranging economic refroms were initiated in 1991, industry and trade were assigned the role "Engines of Growth." This may not have been erronious, had the critical role of agriculture in the Indian economy been recognised, not necessarily in terms of its contribution to the GDP, that ought to have declined, but the size of dependent population on that sector and its contribution to employment. It did not happen.

Viewed in that perspective, the treatment given to agriculture slowly, and even routinely, is improving. For instance, the level of credtit to agriculture and allied activities such as fishing, dairing, etc. has been enhanced from ₹15 lakh crore to ₹17.5 crore in 2022-23. Only worry is whether care would be taken to ensure that the credit needs of small and marginal farmers would be accommodated.

Bhalchandra Mungekar
Former Member, RS & Planning Commission

Second, that about nine lakh acres of land is to be additionally irrigated is a good initiative, as it would increase productivity, production and employment generation. Third, thrust is given to creation of agro-based units. A proposal of giving a package to fruit-growers is a welcome idea. But even the Congress-led UPA gave such thrusts. But they made a mistake, that is also done by this government — they expect the private sector to take initiative in investing in this sector. But unless public investment is made in creating necessary infrastructure, the private industry would not step in. The best remedy would be to assign this role to small and medium enterprises, offer them loans at concessional rates and provide storage and marketing facilities. Four, importance given to natural or inorganic farming is welcome, but its scale needs to be substantially enhanced.

Five. Successive governments have talked about the "oilseeds mission", but nothing substantial has happened so far. We still depend on import of edible oil. The oil-seed mission would be successful only if we have appropriate seed and other technology-related measures in place.

FOR TRANSPARENCY AND EASE OF LIVING

THE Indian economy is resilient and has rebound and grown on the basis of strong fundamentals. The economy has sustained multiple shocks of Demonetisation, GST, RERA and credit crisis of NBFCs. Humanity is currently facing a pandemic which has resulted in unemployment, income losses, business model dislocation and the biggest of all, an uneven economic recovery. The 'K' shaped economic recovery created a wide divide between the bottom and the top of the income pyramid. Our biggest impediment to growth is rising inflation, interest rates and unsustainable oil prices, and hence the budget blueprint is crucial.

This budget tried laying the path for next 25 years, focusing immediately through the PM Gati Shakti with seven engines — infra push, multimodal transportation, logistic parks, partnership with state governments for urban planning and development etc. Surely it will help the economic recovery. A critical sector like real estate will see positive impact in medium to long term. Infrastructure status to data centres and energy storage systems including charging infra etc is a step in right direction. This will attract lots of global capital.

Sunil Rohokale
MD & CEO of ASK Group

The thrust on digital, fintech, healthtech, edutech, clean teach and journey towards Prop tech have been initiated, but the devil lies in the details. Real estate needs more 'end to end' digitisation. This brings in transparency, disclosures and governance with ease of acquiring and selling homes. Also announced is the intention to bring in 'One nation one registration software' which is a most interesting and much required reform.

This budget stayed away from tax incentives to individuals for investing into housing and is surely a missed opportunity. Finally, this is a growth-oriented budget with focus on government capex and employment generation through revival in infra-related sectors. This may help continue momentum in real estate if execution of earlier reforms and new announcements budget are implemented seamlessly.

SURGERY is safe for Covid-19 patients infected with Omicron, the government said on Thursday. Lav Agarwal, joint secretary in the health ministry, said patients needing surgery should not worry and even C-section deliveries are safe.

Quoting a recent All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) study, he said no complications or deaths during surgery and immediate postoperative period were seen. Fifty-three persons with Covid underwent surgery at AIIMS from December 20, 2021, to January 20, 2022.

Agarwal said that of the 53, 17 survived, while four died. The deaths were primarily due to other causes and not linked Covid-19 infection.

Agrawal said data indicates that unlike during the previous Covid-19 surge, surgeries are safe and not associated with chances of further complications or deaths.

The government said that average age of hospitalisation was 44 during the third wave. During the second wave powered by Delta, this was 55 years. Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) Director-General Balram Bhargava shared data from a study which covered 1,520 hospitalised patients, whose mean age was 44 years. It was found that 46 per cent of them had co-morbidities.

Addressing the weekly media briefing, Lav Agrawal, joint secretary in the health ministry, said: "There are areas where cases are increasing. Covid management strategies still need to be implemented because overall we are still seeing a high number of cases." Among the eight states still recording a high number of active cases, Kerala contributes 24.68%. The other states are Tamil Nadu, Karnataka, Maharashtra, Andhra Pradesh, Gujarat, Rajasthan, and Madhya Pradesh. Agrawal said over 50,000 active cases are reported from these eight states, while 10,000-50,000 active cases are reported from 12 states.

Kejriwal is Chhota Modi: Congress

PANAJI: Congress general secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala dubbed AAP convener Arvind Kejriwal as 'Chhota Modi' and said he has come to Goa to give 'covering fire' to the ruling BJP which is "losing" ground in the coastal state. Surjewala also termed the AAP chief as an 'imposter'. ''Kejriwal is the person who swore by Lokayukta and Lokpal (anti-corruption bodies). He is the person who came to power opposing the Congress party. Where is Lokpal?" Surjewala asked.

Channi likely to be Cong's CM face

The announcement for Punjab to come up at Rahul Gandhi's rally in Ludhiana on Sunday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

I will be with Rahul Gandhi in Ludhiana on February 6 and there he is expected to make the announcement of the Chief Ministerial face

—Charanjit Singh Channi, Punjab Chief Minister

EXPECTING a neck and neck fight with the AAP in Punjab, the Congress is likely to announce Chief Minister Charanjit Singh Channi as the party's face for the assembly polls.

The announcement is expected Sunday during a virtual rally of party leader Rahul Gandhi in Ludhiana.

There has been a growing demand from state units to announce the party's CM face, especially after the AAP announced Bhagwant Mann's candidature. The internal assessment showed that the Arvind Kejriwal-led party has picked much traction after the announcement of Mann's name and that the Congress not announcing any name could impact it electorally. Punjab will vote on February 20.

Earlier, Rahul in Punjab had said that the party will announce the name of CM candidate after talking to people of the state. Telephonic feedback was collected by calling voters and asking them about the CM's face. The party has till date got approximately 52 lakh responses in its Interactive Voice Response System.

Sources said that based on the feedback, Channi has emerged as the frontrunner while the party's state chief Navjot Singh Sidhu also got support. What goes in favour of Channi is he is a Dalit and Punjab has a sizeable of over 30 per cent Dalit population.

There has been an ongoing tussle between Channi and Sidhu over the party's CM face. The chief minister has said that the party should go ahead and name its CM face, while the PCC president called for the people of the state to decide it.

In a clear signal on party's choice, Channi is contesting from two seats — Chamkaur Sahib and Bhadaur, while Sidhu will be trying his fate from East Amritsar where Shiromani Akali Dal has fielded Bikram Singh Majithia. Last month, party has also posted a video on official handles where actor Sonu Sood was seen endorsing Channi as the CM.

A video, meanwhile, has gone viral in which Channi is heard telling his supporters about an election meeting at Chamkaur Sahib. "I will be with Rahul Gandhi in Ludhiana on February 6 and there he is expected to make the announcement of the CM face." He told them to watch the virtual rally and accordingly make arrangements.

SKM representatives present placards showing Morcha's demands for farmers at a press conference in Delhi | SHEKHAR YADAV

Morcha exhorts farmers to punish BJP over govt's unkept promises

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

The government has not fulfilled its promises. No committee has been formed yet for Minimum Support Price and neither the cases against farmers have been withdrawn

YOGENDRA YADAV, Swaraj India

THE Samyukta Kisan Morcha (SKM) on Thursday appealed to farmers in Uttar Pradesh to punish the BJP in the upcoming assembly elections for betraying the farmers by not fulfilling their demands.

The Morcha has claimed to have support of 57 farmers unions and also clarified that it has nothing to do with seeking votes for any party in the ongoing elections. The SKM declared that if the government reneged on its written assurance and promises to protesting tillers, "farmers would be left with no option but to resume their agitation."

"SKM has issued an appeal to farmers in UP to punish the BJP in the upcoming elections for betraying the farmers. The government has not fulfilled its promises. No committee has been formed yet for Minimum Support Price and neither the cases against farmers have been withdrawn," Swaraj India president Yogendra Yadav said at a press conference in the national capital.

The remaining demands include setting up of a committee on Minimum Support Price (MSP) and withdrawal of cases against farmers, remain unfulfilled, said the SKM that spearheaded the farmers agitation against new agri laws which were later rolled back.

"We will organise press conferences at nine places, including Meerut, Kanpur, Siddharthnagar, Gorakhpur and Lucknow in the coming days. Pamphlets containing our appeal will be distributed across UP," Yadav said, adding that the SKM has nothing to do with seeking votes for any party.

"The Morcha was and will continue to remain apolitical".

In their appeal to farmers, the unions also referred to Lakhimpur Kheri incident and claimed that the accused was arrested only after the Supreme Court intervened into the matter and the minister Ajay Mishra is still free because of ongoing polls.

Dhami flays Cong for proposing Muslim university

DEHRADUN: A war of words have broken out between the BJP and the Congress over formation of a 'Muslim university' in Uttarakhand after Congress' Akeel Ahmed said that he had urged the senior leaders to form such facility for the community. "I have had word with honourable Harish Rawat ji about opening a Muslim University. He has promised that it will be done if the party forms the government," said Ahmed. Muslim's comprise 14% population of the population. Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami launched a scathing attack on the Congress, saying that the party has always been involved in appeasement and never cared about people. "Congress is saying they will build a Muslim university, if sworn to power. This poll is to choose between 'kaam karne wale' vs 'kaale karname wale'," the Uttarakhand CM said.

NOT to be left behind in the poll season in Goa, many lawyers have thrown their hat in the election ring while several of them are hogging the limelight in the coastal state.

Goa will be voting on February 14.

The AAP has gone a step further ahead and declared Amit Palekar, a lawyer by profession, as the party's CM face. The 46-year-old lawyer had recently joined AAP and is the party's candidate from St Cruz constituency.

The Mamata Banerjee-led Trinamool Congress has fielded several lawyers as their candidates. One of the young TMC candidates is Seoula Vas, a lawyer. She has the party nomination from Fatorda constituency.

Former chief minister of Goa, Luizinho Faleiro while withdrawing his candidature from Fatorda said, "I hand over the baton to a young, dynamic woman, advocate Seoula Vas. I am grateful to Trinamool chief Mamata Banerjee for giving me the opportunity to serve the people of Goa."

Given Faleiro's experience, he will campaign across Goa. "I did not want to limit myself to one seat, so I requested the party to give the ticket to a young woman. Let me assure you, this will be a grand battle between David and Goliath," said Faleiro. Vas is contesting against Goa Forward Party leader Vijay Sardesai.

The Congress and the TMC have fielded young faces while the ruling BJP is banking on experienced faces, nominating those who have got the support base and have been elected in previous polls.

From ad films, social work to poll hustings

HAILING from a family of freedom fighters in Uttarakhand, Shveta Mashiwal (38) has been a radio jockey and an ad filmmaker. But after her elder brother died in an accident in 2011, she quit her job and immersed herself into social service. A decade later, she is ready to take the poll plunge so that she can serve her state better.

On campaign trail in Nainital's Ramnagar, the 38-year-old, who is contesting the seat as an independent, gets upset over potholed roads hear the Jim Corbett Tiger Reserve. "Corbett is the 'Kohinoor' in terms of tiger density and this is the condition of the roads here. BJP and Congress have failed to build proper roads despite the fact that tourism is the backbone of our state," says Mashiwal.

"The spirit of service and people's welfare has disappeared from politics. Every party is after seizing power and accumulating wealth. No one cares about basics such as health, education, roads."

From organising health camps to arranging food, medicines and hospital admissions in times of crisis and filing PILs for addressal of issues like lack of health and education infrastructure and rampant drug abuse, there's nothing that Mashiwal has not done to make people's lives better.

Her team has provided help to Covid-hit people, especially in remote and rural areas. The team also played a key role to bring back 12,000 migrants during the first lockdown.

Mashiwal has been doing her bit for society. Whether the voters will pay back or not remains to be seen.

K'taka Cong, BJP wage proxy war in Goa

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka BJP and Karnataka Congress units, grappling for the upper hand in state politics, have shifted base to the coastal paradise of Goa, and are locked in a proxy war of sorts.

While the BJP has pressed Byrati Basavaraj, Prabhu Chauhan, N Munirathna, Laxman Savadi and a host of legislators and former legislators from Karnataka into action, the AICC has released a list of star campaigners. Besides the bigwigs, there are regular crowdpullers like MLC Prakash Rathod, Mansoor Khan, Satish Jarkiholi, Laxmi Hebbalkar and Anjali Nimbalkar.

The who's who of the parties are going door-to-door in all 40 constituencies of Goa. While the BJP unit, led by Karnataka leader and general secretary CT Ravi, is confident that internal surveys are giving them a clear majority of 23 seats, the Congress unit led by Karnataka leader and general secretary Dinesh Gundurao is equally confident of winning 23 seats.

With so many political leaders from Karnataka, it is apparent that the national parties are banking on caste and community to play an important role in the election, especially with Christians, Muslims, Lingayats, Kurubas, Edigas, SC and STs in sizable numbers. The leaders will be connecting with their caste and community groups to give their parties the advantage.

Elections to the state are considered important ever since the elevation of Narendra Modi as Prime Minister at the Goa conclave in 2013, with then chief minister Manohar Parrikar proposing his name.

Cong leaders on star campaigners' list for poll

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @ Panaji

SEVERAL noted Congress leaders from Karnataka, including D K Shivakumar, Satish Jarkiholi, M B Patil, Mallikarjun Kharge and Siddaramaiah, figure on the list of 30 star campaigners, headed by Sonia Gandhi, for the upcoming assembly elections in Goa.

According to top party sources, the leaders will be involved in a hectic campaign until the February 14 elections, to be held for 40 assembly seats in the coastal state. Party leaders, headed by MLA Dinesh Gundurao and P Chidambaram, have been camping in Goa for the past several days, holding rallies and party meetings at regular intervals.

The star campaigners are: Sonia Gandhi, Rahul Gandhi, Priyanka Gandhi Vadra, Mallikarjun Kharge, P Chidambaram, Dinesh Gundurao, Girish Chodankar, Digambar Kamat, Francisco Sardinha, Randeep Surjewala, Ashok Gehlot, Oomen Chandy, Siddaramaiah, Ashok Chavan, Sachin Pilot, Ramesh Chennithala, D K Shivakumar, Shashi Tharoor, H K Patil, M B Patil, Ramakant Khalap, Amit Deshmukh, Nana Patole, Yashomati Thakur, R V Deshpande, Satish Jarkiholi, Kanhaiya Kumar, Imran Pratapgarhi, Netta D'Souza and B V Srinivas.

Despite emerging the single-largest party in the last assembly elections, winning 17 seats against 13 of the BJP, the party failed to form the government in the state with many of its MLAs switching over to the BJP to help the latter form the government. However, KPCC Working President Satish Jarkiholi says the party is confident of putting up another good show this time. He said the Congress leadership has resolved to bring the party to power in Goa, and is working on its campaign effectively.

Shivakumar, Satish Jarkiholi, Laxmi Hebbalkar, Dinesh Gundurao and many other party leaders have already visited several assembly segments in Goa.

Uttarakhand tourism down in last few years

It is a well-established fact that tourism is the spine of economy of Uttarakhand. But the picture is not rosy for the tourism stakeholders in the last few years. Corresponding with the country-wide trend, the northern state saw a decline in the number of tourists in last five years, both domestic and international. In 2017, 3.45 crore domestic tourists visited Uttarakhand which came down to 3.07 crore in 2021. Similarly, international tourist arrivals came down from 1.42 lakh in 2017 to 16,437 in 2021. In the last two years, tourism sector has been hit by the Covid pandemic, forcing many stakeholders to opt for other career options.

Raising awareness on forest rights

Despite over 71% geographical area of Uttarakhand falling in forest area, forest rights are a relatively neglected domain. An analysis by independent researchers Vandana Dhoop and Kundan Kumar asserts that the number of voters who can be benefited through recognition of CFR Rights by the virtue of residing in forested areas is at least 24 lakhs (based on the 2011 Census), which constitute 32% of the total registered voters in 2017 (76 lakhs) and 48% of actual votes cast (50 lakhs). "The implementation of the FRA can provide revenue of `3,000-5,000 crore per year to the people of the villages, Van Panchayats more specifically. This can fuel the economy and kick start a cycle of prosperity for forest dwellers," said Kundan Kumar, one of the writers of the analysis.

IS chief blows himself, family up during overnight US raid in Syria

Op took a major terrorist leader off battlefield, says Biden; calls it a warning to terrorists

ATMEH, SYRIA

A Syrian civil defence officer searches the scene following the overnight raid | AFP

THE leader of the violent Islamic State group was killed during an overnight raid carried out by US special forces in Syria's northwestern Idlib province, President Joe Biden said on Thursday.

The raid targeted Abu Ibrahim al-Hashimi al-Qurayshi, who took over as head of the militant group on October 31, 2019, just days after leader Abu Bakr al-Baghdadi died during a US raid in the same area.

A US official said al-Qurayshi died as al-Baghdadi did, by exploding a bomb that killed himself and members of his family, including women and children, as US forces approached.

The operation came as IS has been trying for a resurgence, with a series of attacks in the region, including a 10-day assault late last month to seize a prison.

US special forces landed in helicopters and assaulted a house in a rebel-held corner of Syria, clashing for two hours with gunmen, witnesses said. Residents described continuous gunfire and explosions that jolted the town of Atmeh near the Turkish border, an area dotted with camps for internally displaced people from Syria's civil war.

Abu Ibrahim al-Hashimi al-Qurayshi

First responders reported that 13 people had been killed, including six children and four women.

"Last night's operation took a major terrorist leader off the battlefield," Biden said in remarks from the White House.

"As our troops approached to capture the terrorist, in a final act of desperate cowardice, with no regard to the lives of his own family or others in the building, he chose to blow himself up... rather than face justice for the crimes he has committed," the US leader said.

In detonating the bomb, Qurashi "took several members of his family with him, just as his predecessor did," Biden added.

Biden said the Syria operation had sent a strong message to terrorists around the world: "We will come after you and find you."

"I've been trying to protect the American people from terrorist threats, and I'll take decisive action to protect this country," Biden said, vowing that US forces will remain "vigilant" and prepared.

Biden said the special forces raid was carried out instead of an air strike to "minimize civilian casualties."

"Knowing that this terrorist had chosen to surround himself with families, including children, we made a choice to pursue a special forces raid at a much greater risk to our own people, rather than targeting him (Qurashi) with an air strike."

The US government had offered a $10 million reward for information leading to Qurashi, one of the world's most wanted fugitives.

The head of the Syrian Observatory for Human Rights, Rami Abdel Rahman, said "13 people at least were killed, among them four children and three women, during the operation." AP/AFP

Baloch separatists attack 2 military bases in Pakistan

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

A FEW hours before Pakistan Prime Minister Imran Khan was to leave for the opening ceremony of Beijing Winter Olympics, Baloch separatist insurgents claimed to have attacked two military bases.

Though Pakistani army said four soldiers and 15 insurgents were killed, the Baloch Liberation Army (BLA) claimed it killed 50 soldiers in the attack.

In a statement sent to Reuters, BLA claimed its suicide bombers detonated explosive-laden vehicles at the entrance of the bases killing more than 50 soldiers.

However, the Pakistan army said both of the Wednesday night attacks — one in Panjgur district and the other in Naushki district — had been repulsed. "We salute our brave security forces who repulsed terrorist attacks," Khan said in a statement.

Last week, the insurgents killed 10 soldiers in an attack on a post near the port of Gwadar on the Arabian Sea.

Ethnic Baloch guerrillas have been engaged in a long-drawn battle with the government demanding a separate state and also acquising Pakistan of exploiting their rich gas and mineral resources.

BLA has been targeting gas projects, infrastructure and the security forces and also Chinese projects. Casualities reported included Chinese nationals employed in these projects.

China is involved in the development of the Gwadar port and other projects in the province as part of a $60 billion China-Pakistan Economic Corridor, which is part of Beijing's Belt and Road initiative.

Meanwhile, Pakistan has accused India of covertly supporting the Baloch insurgents. India has denied any involvement and said the allegation unfounded.

Israel signs defence agreement with Bahrain

MANAMA

ISRAEL signed a defence agreement with Bahrain on Thursday, its first such deal with a Gulf country since establishing diplomatic ties with Manama and Abu Dhabi more than a year ago. Defence Minister Benny Gantz, making his first visit to Bahrain, said the memorandum of understanding, that covers intelligence, procurement and joint training, takes the countries' relationship to "new heights".

Bahrain and the United Arab Emirates (UAE) normalised relations with Israel under the United States-brokered Abraham Accords agreements in September 2020, defying decades of Arab consensus that ruled out ties in the absence of a solution to the Israeli-Palestinian conflict. "Only one year following the signing of the accords, we have achieved an important defence agreement," Gantz said in a statement.

Gantz earlier toured the US Fifth Fleet headquarters based in Bahrain. The defence minister toured the guided missile destroyer USS Cole, which is set to make its way to Abu Dhabi to help defend the UAE against attacks by Yemen's Iran-backed-Houthi rebels. AFP

TDS on crypto transaction is like STT: Govt

Taxing doesn't legitimise crypto, Principal Economic Advisor Sanjeev Sanyal tells TNIE

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

EVEN as investors and traders rue over the new 1% TDS on cryptocurrency transactions, the government believes it is like the Securities Transaction Tax (STT) on equities that needs to be imposed on crypto trade.

Likening the 1% TDS on crypto transaction to STT on equities, Principal Economic Advisor Sanjeev Sanyal told TNIE that the government has the intent to tax cryptos in a particular way and that it has a justification for that.

After all there is no productive asset to look at so there is no reason why we should not tax it higher.

Sanjeev Sanyal, Principle Economic Advisor

Government levies a 0.025% STT on each equity sale or purchase transactions on exchanges.

When Sanyal was asked a 1% TDS is way higher than STT on equities, he said: "That is our judgement what the market should bear. After all there is no productive asset to look at so there is no reason why we should not tax it higher."

He reiterated that crypto assets are not currencies at all, and that they have no characteristic of a currency. "These assets are like any other assets and we would tax them. You buy and sale house you pay a stamp duty of 7%, then you don't complain."

When he was asked if the government is not comfortable with crypto assets, he said that blockchain is a useful technology that requires a certain kind of currency to be there and that the government is creating one for itself.

However, he says that a digital rupee is same rupee only on the blockchain technology platform.

The transition, he says, is not different from transition from metal coins to currency notes and then to electronic rupee that is being used widely nowadays.

He says that taxing does not legitimise the crypto market.

"We will still regulate it and a global regulatory framework is being worked out at the global level. The current laissez-faire system would not exist in the future, that is for sure," he said.

FRL, lenders must resolve debt repayment issue in 2 weeks: SC

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE Supreme Court Thursday refused to pass an interim order restraining banks from taking coercive action against Future Retail (FRL) for missing a payment due on Dec 31 .

However, it asked FRL and bankers to work out a solution within two weeks, failing which it would pass an order , said an FRL spokesperson .

"The Court has directed bankers and FRL to work out a solution in two weeks before the hearing resumes," said the spokesperson .

"Banks also said that Amazon was offering ₹7000 crore but that doesn't work for them as their total exposure (to FRL) is ₹17000 crore."

Banks are of the view that FRL assets should be openly bid for by Amazon and RIL with ₹17000 crore as the reserve price, said sources .

The assets could be offered to the one making the higher bid. FRL, added the sources, would cooperate with banks to arrive at a solution, after which SC would hear and pass an order.

FRL had petitioned the apex court to restrain lenders from declaring the company an NPA in light of the ongoing litigation with Amazon.

FRL defaulted on payment of ₹3494.56 crore to lenders under a one time restructuring plan on or before Dec 31, 2021 as it was unable to "complete the monetisation of the specified business as contemplated in OTR plan, due to ongoing litigations with Amazon.com NV Investment Holdings LLC," it told stock exchanges.

Amazon, which indirectly holds a stake in FRL, has opposed the sale of FRL's assets worth ₹25000 crore to RIL on grounds that it violates contractual non compete clauses.

Bosch to invest 2k cr in auto tech, digital space in India

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

MARKING its 100 years of presence in India, German technology and auto component major Bosch has announced that it will invest ₹2,000 crore in India by 2026 in the advanced automotive technologies and digital mobility space.

The investment also includes the investments made to participate in the government of India's production-linked incentives (PLI) scheme which is aimed at boosting domestic manufacturing.

The company says it has over the years invested around ₹900 crore annually at group level in India.

"Bosch India will remain true to its roots and evolve, innovate, and spark the next wave of big-ticket products and services. We will continue to pursue this vision for a digital, sustainable, efficient, self-reliant, and future-ready India," said Soumitra Bhattacharya, MD of Bosch Limited and president of the Bosch Group in India.

On plan for electric vehicles, Bosch said that it estimates that by 2030, every third new vehicle in India will be an EV. At the same time, dependent on use case/customer strategy, the Internal Combustion Engine (ICE) could also be electrified with mild and strong hybrids. The ICE remains an important part of the powertrain mix especially in commercial vehicles.

"Considering the ever-changing needs of mobility, Bosch provides more than one powertrain technology to make mobility more sustainable," the company said.

UNION BUDGET 2022-23

BUDGET'S IMPACT ON PERSONAL FINANCE

THE Budget 2022 has strongly focused on the macroeconomic factors but has made no big noise on the tax-related proposals. For individual taxpayers, it implies stability in personal finances as they can broadly continue with their current roadmap to achieve their long term wealth goal. What does the budget mean for you: For the majority of individual taxpayers, there were no tax sops announced. For an Individual, following the old taxation regime is still more beneficial in most cases.

A ₹10 lakh salary income still attracts a NIL tax liability under the old regime. A welcome move for HNIs was limiting the surcharge at 15% on all LTCG, which helps them bring down taxation by 2.08% and 4.58% for HNIs earning more than ₹2cr and ₹5cr respectively.

While the government has introduced a digital rupee, there seems to be no intent to promote cryptocurrency or NFTs with a flat rate of taxation of 30%. The other disadvantage is in terms of no set-off provisions or no losses being allowed to carry forward. The loop-hole of bonus stripping has been plugged. However, this is applicable from April 1, 2022 onwards. From a portfolio standpoint, the budget was positive for equity as the focus is on long term growth of the country.

The sharp increase of 35% in capital spending with a special emphasis on infrastructure development, digital adoption, measures to improve ease of doing business, focus on startups and sunrise industries are all positive for the equity market. But on the other hand, there is little to cheer for fixed income. Higher than expected government borrowing - for FY23, the supply increases with the government's gross borrowing at ₹14.98 lakh crore, against an expectation of ₹12-12.5 lakh crore. Also, no news on India's inclusion in the global bond indices was a let-down as the demand for the government bond could have strengthened the bond market. In effect, it would have reduced the cost of capital and bolstering India's rating.

INFRA SPENDING TO BOOST REAL ESTATE

UNION budget focuses on economic expansion through spatial and digital connectivity. With ₹1 lakh crore expenditure earmarked towards infrastructure development, real estate in the peripheral and peri-urban area is likely to get a boost coupled with an allocation of ₹48,000 cr for affordable housing under PMAY. Along with this, the logistic sector and were-housing will get a further impetus. Data centers have been given the infrastructure status.

₹48,000 crores have been allotted for development under the PMAY scheme, with a target to complete 80 lakh houses for identified eligible beneficiaries in urban and rural areas. The central government will work with the state governments to reduce the required time for all land and construction-related approvals.

The union budget has prioritised multimodal connectivity between mass urban transport and rail network. The finance minister announced an outlay of ₹20,000 crore for building a holistic infrastructure in India under the Gati Shakti National Master Plan. The initiative will increase public connectivity within the city and across the region. This would make land in the periphery more accessible and open for future development. It is likely to increase housing sales in the periphery areas and flatten the price growth curve, while the sales in the city center might feel the pressure. It will also boost logistic and warehousing activities.

The budget pushes for better urban planning in India's cities, focusing on urban sector policies, capacity building, planning, implementation, and governance.

The data center and energy storage system have been given infrastructure status to ensure easy financing to the sector. The Centre's budgetary capital expenditure increased from ₹5.5 lakh crore in FY22 to ₹7.5 lakh crore for FY23. The FM announced a massive hike in financial assistance to states for Capex (in interest-free loans) from ₹15,000 crore in FY22 to ₹1 lakh crore in FY23.

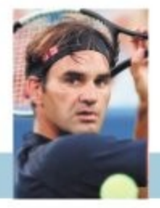
Federer, Nadal set to team up at Laver Cup



Roger Federer and Rafael Nadal are set to team up for Europe against the rest of the world in the fifth edition of the Laver Cup later this year. The announcement on Thursday comes despite uncertainty over Federer's future in tennis following a long period of inaction after knee surgery. The Swiss great, 40, said on Wednesday he would know by "April-May" if he will be able to return to the court after being on the sidelines since last year's Wimbledon.

Ranji to kick-off on Feb 17

Domestic meet to go ahead with 8 Elite & 1 Plate Group, KOs in June

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

THE first phase of the Ranji Trophy will get underway on February 17 as the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) announced the groupings and the venues on Thursday. India's premier domestic event, which features 38 teams, will see the group stages and one pre-quarterfinal held before the Indian Premier League. The quarterfinals, semifinals and final will take place in June.

According to a schedule sent by the BCCI secretary Jay Shah to the state units, the BCCI has slotted 34 days for the 57 matches for the phase 1 with the teams entering a bio-secure bubble on February 10. Ahmedabad, Rajkot, Haryana, Delhi, Guwahati, Cuttack, Thiruvanathapuram and Chennai will be the host cities for Elite groups. Kolkata will host the Plate group. The 38 teams have been divided into Elite and Plate category, with the former making eight groups of four teams each.

Interestingly, on Thursday, the Delhi High Court refused to allow outdoor sports activities in the national capital due to the current pandemic situation. According to reports, the court has said Delhi Distaster Management Authority should be allowed to decide on this. The DDMA is due to meet on Friday to assess the situation.

For the overall balance of the groupings, the BCCI has also given promotion to Chandigarh and Meghalaya as both teams had finished third and fourth in the Plate group in the 2019/20 season. Goa and Pondicherry by virtue of being the toppers were automatically entitled to join the Elite teams. The six teams in Plate will play three matches each with their opponents set to be announced soon.

To ensure a level-playing field, the BCCI has also ensured no team will play at home.

The eight teams that finish top of the Elite groups will advance to the knockout stages. Among them the lowest-ranked one will face the topper of Plate group in a pre-quarterfinal. This pre-quarterfinal will take place immediately after the group matches and will be a four-day affair beginning on March 12. The other seven teams will get direct entry to the quarterfinals.

"We have spread the Ranji Trophy to nine different venues, across the country to mitigate any cross-transmission risk while also ensuring that bio-secure bubbles are not overburdened. While the persistent virus has still breached the bubble we have factored in certain contingency plans drawing from our past experience while formulating this structure," Shah wrote in the letter to the state units on Thursday.

It is understood that the cricket operations wing placed multiple options before the top brass of the board. This included a Super Eight format, which would have seen eight teams play a minimum of six matches before a final. In the current format, the teams that make it to the final will get to play seven matches as the board was not in favour of extending the season to July. This is two short of the number of matches (18 teams from Elite Group A and B) played in group stages of the 2019/20 season. Teams in Elite C and Plate played nine matches each in the group stages. This was followed by quarterfinals, semifinals and final.

Tale behind Italy tennis' recent rise

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

JUNE 7, 2021. A baby-faced Lorenzo Musetti is scything through the defences of Novak Djokovic on the red clay in Paris. What started out as a routine fourth-round match becomes must-watch TV. Even if the end result is heart-breaking — the 19-year-old retires with injury in the fifth set — he has showcased his potential. What Musetti also did that Monday evening was again shine a light on the recent successes of the Italian Tennis Federation.

Here was a system that had begun producing elite tennis players like it was the easiest thing in the world and Musetti was its latest example. A month after Musetti came Matteo Berrettini's run to the final of Wimbledon. Berrettini had become the first Italian man in 45 years to reach a Slam final. The development was also holistic in nature, it wasn't just that the country had stumbled on one or two once-in-a-generation players.

Check this. In the beginning of 2018, the country had four players in the top 100, all of them aged 26 or above. At the start of 2022? They have eight in the top 100, with three of them 25 or under? Musetti is of course the youngest of the lot and he's quick to credit the federation for this transformation. "We are one of the best countries in the world (with regards to tennis)," he says. "I'm very proud to be part of it. Think the federation did good work."

Lorenzo Musetti

What's the kind of work the federation is doing? The answer lies in the number of Challengers and ITF World Tour events they are conducting on a yearly basis. Since the beginning of 2017, they have hosted 95 Challengers (for context, India have hosted 19 of these since 2013).

Italy ranking chart

Beginning of Year	Top 100	Age 25 or <
2019	5	1
2020	8	2
2021	7	2
2022	8	3

When you host Challengers — the second rung of the ATP Tour — it automatically acts as a pathway to give upcoming players a platform to improve their ranking and give them a stage to perform without travelling overseas. It also gives them the experience of playing against veterans on the tour at a relatively early stage in their development process (as hosts, the Italian federation also have the capacity to give up to four wildcards to players from Italy).

Both Lorenzo Sonego and Berrettini came to prominence as they won home Challengers in 2017 before spring-boarding their way into the top 100 in subsequent years. In 2019, it was the turn of Jannik Sinner and Musetti himself to use the Challengers at home as a sort of exercise to win enough ranking points before jumping up a level to play in tour-level events. So it's no surprise to see Musetti, the No 2 seed at the Pune Open, saying 'we are one of the top countries when it comes to hosting Challengers'. "When a player is coming through the juniors, he has to step in the world of Challengers. I went through (that). It's very helpful for the younger players."

In the three months between February and April 2022, Italy is scheduled to host nine more Challengers. For the five players aged 21 or below in the rankings between 190 and 400, those tournaments will continue to offer priceless ranking points to further their education.

Select results (Rd 2) : Stefano travaglia bt Yuki Bhambri 6-2, 6-2, Elias Ymer bt Aslan Karatsev 6-2, 7-6 (3), Jiri Vesely bt Bernabe Zapata Miralles 6-3, 6-4, Emil Ruusuvuori bt Vik Kopriva 6-3, 6-3. Men's doubles: Rohan Bopanna/Ramkumar Ramanathan bt Alexander Erler/Jiri Vesely 7-6 (3), 7-6 (4); Saketh Myneni/Mukund Sasikumar lost to Luke Saville/John-Patrick Smith 6-3, 5-7, 3-10.

Mohun Bagan gift Mumbai a point

AGENCIES @Fatorda

HEAVYWEIGHTS Mumbai City FC and ATK Mohun Bagan displayed their full repertoire but were left high and dry in the end with a 1-1 draw in the ISL here Thursday.

David Williams opened the scoring for ATKMB in the ninth minute but an own goal from Pritam Kotal in the 24th minute restored parity for Mumbai. Both teams had their fair share of chances in each half but could not produce a winner. The result means ATKMB could not break into the top-four, remaining fifth with 20 points from 12 games.

Yash they can! India Colts enter final

SKIPPER Yash Dhull gave a glimpse of his rare talent with a well-paced hundred which guided powerhouse India into its fourth consecutive U-19 World Cup final with an emphatic 96-run win over Australia here. Dhull struck a sublime 110 in as many balls and shared a game-changing 204-run stand with his deputy Shaik Rasheed (94 off 108 balls) to fire India to a formidable 290 for five after opting to bat on Wednesday.

Indian bowlers then performed their roles to perfection to bowl Australia out for 194 in 41.5 overs. Lachlan Shaw's fine 51 came too late in the day for Australia.

Pacers Rajvardhan Hangargekar (0/26) and Ravi Kumar (2/37) were impressive in the first powerplay before spinners Nishant Sindhu (2/25), Vicky Ostwal (3/42) and Kaushal Tambe (1/32) dominated the opposition in the middle overs.

Record four-time champions India face England in the final on Saturday at North Sound, Antigua and will be aiming to extend their dominance in the competition.

Dhull became the third Indian captain to hit a hundred in the tournament history after the illustrious Virat Kohli (2008) and the prodigious Unmukt Chand (2012), who also hails from Delhi. "The plan from me and Rasheed was to bat till the end, and it worked. It's a proud moment (to be the third Indian captain to score a U19 WC ton)," Dhull said.

Brief scores: India U-19s 290/5 in 50 ovs (Dhull 110, Rasheed 94; Nisbet 2/41) bt Australia U-19s 194 in 41.5 ovs (Shaw 51, Miller 38; Ostwal 3/42).
